Summer Savory

A little herb. A lot of flavour.

Satureja hortensis

Annual culinary herb.
Peppery and aromatic.

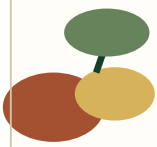

GROW OR COOK

Start with seed for fresh leaves, or choose dried leaves for convenience.

BOTANICAL ILLUSTRATION | Reviewed September 25, 2026 | Food-first guidance; no treatment claim.

Choose by what you want to do

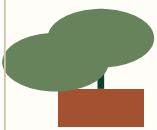

One herb. Three very different buying decisions.

GROW A SEASON

Seeds

Current Richters page lists seeds and bulk seeds. Best for a sunny bed or container.

SKIP GERMINATION

Live plant

Not shown on the verified current Richters page.
Check availability and delivery area.

COOK RIGHT AWAY

Dried leaves

Current Richters page lists bulk dried leaves cut. Confirm package size and seller terms.

FROM SEED TO KITCHEN

SOW
Shallowly; light helps germination.

WAIT
Transplant after frost danger.

GROW
Full sun; moist, well-drained soil.

CLIP
Leafy tops as buds begin.

Use your local frost date and the seed packet as the controlling instructions for your batch.

Bring it to the table

Peppery, aromatic and especially at home with beans, lentils, soups, stews, vegetables, poultry and stuffing.

GROW	Use a sunny bed or container. It is annual, so plan to sow again each season.
PREPARE	Strip and chop fresh leaves, or choose dried leaves for convenience.
NOURISH	Use it as food: begin with a small amount, taste, then adjust. No treatment claim.

BROWSE SUMMER SAVORY AT RICHTERS >

https://www.richters.com/products/summer-savory-x5290?source=afl_4a6f

AFFILIATE DISCLOSURE

This is a Richters affiliate link. Seed & Source may earn a commission if you purchase through it, at no added cost to you. Richters controls formats, availability, price, shipping and transaction terms.

CHECK BEFORE BUYING

Confirm Satureja hortensis, the exact form, frost timing, destination and shipping.

SOURCES & EVIDENCE LIMIT

Richters Herbs | Kew POWO | Illinois Extension | RHS | University of Minnesota Extension

Sources support identity, general cultivation and culinary use - not current stock, growing success, clicks, orders, commissions or cash.